

Graduate! program growing

- ▶ Graduate! Philadelphia launched to help residents complete college
- ▶ Two years in, a big expansion

The demand for that service to help Philadelphians complete college degrees has grown so quickly that the center has added six satellite locations.

Since 2008, the college access center at The Gallery has helped 460 adults re-enroll, including 10 who have already completed their degrees. More than 1,000 are in the process to re-enroll.

“Graduate! Philadelphia is an invaluable initiative because it’s giving people opportunities and supports to go back to college, complete their degrees and ad-

Expansion

The program has expanded beyond its main location.

- ▶ It’s at CareerLink Centers in Center City, North Philadelphia, the Northeast and Germantown.
- ▶ And at CORA Services’ Neumann Center in Kensington and the Northeast Family Service Center of Catholic Social Services

vance in the workplace,” Mayor Michael Nutter said.
